

Postnational Memory, Peace and War

Making Pasts Beyond Borders

Nigel Young

TABLE OF CONTENTS:

Part 1: Memory and Counter-Memory

Prologue

Vignette: Being There - A Cotswold Vignette (Adlestrop) Introduction: Defining Modern Memory

Vignette: Kennington At Laventie1.

1. A Memorable Engagement –The War to End War – and its Legacy (inc. Vignette: 'Bradford Pals')

2. The Great Sunk Silences: The Nature of Forgetting and the Unbearable Pain of Recall

3. Memory's New Voice

4. Generations of Memory: War Booms and Memory Booms

5. Strange Meetings and Cosmopolitan Sympathies (inc. Vignette: Eugen Gehweiler, Vignette: 'An Espresso Moment')

Part 2: Against Forgetting Retrieving a Borderless Past

6. Memory after the "Shoah" (inc. Vignette: Being There: Poland: 1988, 1996)

7. Airwar and Memory (inc. Vignette: A Silence, Vignette: 'Bambi'; 'Belsen and Memory of the Camps')

Part 3: Re-Writing Memory

8. Beyond Amnesia: Breaking Silences (inc. Vignette: Benicàssim Raising the Ghosts of Castillon De La Plana)

9. Testimony of Place (inc. Vignette: Walking the Fields of Memory: Germany 1994, France and Flanders (1988 and 1992))

10. Beyond Militarism? Peace and War in Civil Memory (inc. Vignette: Oh! What a Lovely War! Vignette: A Mass of Memored Flowers – Poppies and Ploughboys)

11. Postnational Memory and National Conflict: Remembrance in a Globalising Society

Part 4: Towards a History of Modern Memory

12. Towards a History of Modern Memory I: The Work of the Precursors

13. Towards a History of Modern Memory II: A Memory-Work Timeline

14. The Past in the Present-Metamorphosen (inc. Vignette: Yevgeny Khaldei - The Malleability of Memory and the Reichstag Photo, 1945)